

THIS IS WHO WE ARE

We care

We are a group of avid and enthusiastic divers who care about the oceans and diving.

For over 25 years we have been striving to help divers world wide with service and advice on diving medical and dive travel issues.

We help in times of distress

We have been involved in diving emergencies for over 25 years. We harness this vast knowledge and our profound experience to assist our members in times when they need it most.

Diving is often done in remote islands where medical facilities are scarce and medical evacuation is required to save life. Knowing which place and medical facility is right and arranging it can mean life or death. We are here to help in such scenarios.

We support an array of environmental initiatives

We go beyond being just another member association. We are your safety net and diving community, but we also share your values and want to make a difference. As Divers, we have a responsibility to give back and that means doing what we can to support.

We partner with organizations and businesses to make sustainable practices the industry norm across the chain. All charities and NGOs we support strive to protect the planet, save the oceans and its inhibitors, and shift the world onto a sustainable and resilient path. See the full list on our website and choose which initiative you would like to endorse yourself.

We advocate and promote safe diving

We are confident that adopting a handful of safety measures can lower the death toll through diving accidents by 70%!

We work in cooperation with Scuba School International (SSI) and various other diving organizations to adopt and implement such safety measures as standard procedures and save lives.
